Drug critic's home burned
by arson fireBy Andy Siering
Staff writer

EAGLE PARK — A fire that did substantial damage early Thursday morning to a house on Hill Street owned by drug-crusading public official Ed Lee Salmond is being called arson by Salmond and others.

However, Salmond thinks the fire did not stem from his public pledge to rid Eagle Park of drugs, but an unrelated personal dispute with one of its residents. Further, Salmond discounted rumors that he had anything to do with the fire.

Salmond said somebody warned him Wednesday that a man had threatened to burn the building.

Salmond, the Venice Township road commissioner and unofficial Eagle Park fire chief, added that he has no insurance on the house and had nothing to gain from the fire. He said some persons had accused him of having the fire set.

"I don't believe, in insurance," Salmond said. "Anybody can tell you that."

Anonymous callers to the Press-Record/Journal said Salmond had driven by the two-story house, at Hill St., shortly after the fire broke out. They said two other men had been seen running from the building.

The callers said Salmond sat in a van watching the fire burn for five to 10 minutes before anyone summoned the former Eagle Park Fire Protection District fire truck. Salmond admitted that he did watch the fire for several minutes before acting.

Salmond, who maintains the fire truck, said he was awakened by his daughter and told about the fire a few minutes after midnight.

"I thought it was a prank call," he said, by way

Chief discounts retirement rumors

By Dennis Grubaugh
Managing editor

VENICE — He's put in his 20 years, gotten a second job and been commonly talked about as planning to retire soon, but Police Chief Birl Reed insists his plans aren't fit for public discussion.

"It's nobody's business," he said Friday. Following in the footsteps of several former Venice police chiefs, Reed has taken a job as a security guard with the Granite City Steel division of National Steel.

But he insists he is not prepared to make an announcement of retirement as chief.

"When I get ready to retire, I'll tell you," Reed called the paper on Friday.

Inquiries by a reporter had been making regarding Reed's employment future. During a two-minute phone conversation with the editor, Reed accused the paper of trying to make him look bad. He also declined to be specific about how long he planned to be on the force.

"The mayor hasn't asked me to retire. When I get ready to retire, I'll send you the letter," Reed said.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said last Tuesday night that Reed has told him nothing of retirement plans. When told that a number of people have been discussing his "retirement plans," Reed said, "They don't know what they're talking about."

Certain people, who he declined to name, have been spreading the story around, he said.

"I know who they are," he added.

According to Granite City Steel, Reed has been working on a rotating shift basis since May in the security department.

Reed would not comment on how the second job affects his police work.

"If I thought you're trying to dig up a bunch of stuff on me, I'd be filing discrimination. There's nothing wrong with anybody working two jobs. A lot of people do."

Several former police chiefs have left Venice to become security guards at the steel mill, including Reed's immediate predecessor, Farris Smith. All of them, however, officially retired from the force before taking the steel jobs.

Reed has been chief since April of this year.

Coin-cashing leads to chase, capture of suspects

MADISON — Federal charges are pending against two men caught trying to unload almost $10,000 in stolen coins at a local bank drive-up Thursday morning.

Madison police were involved in the investigation but Chief Charles Bridick declined to comment because the Federal Bureau of Investigation was handling the case and because charges were pending. Bank and FBI officials were also unavailable for comment Friday.

The sources said the two men had burrowed under a building in Arkansas, took the coins and then proceeded across the state lines into Illinois, where they eventually ended up in a drive-up lane at the First National Bank in Madison, 600 Madison Ave. It could not be determined what kind of building had been burglarized in Arkansas.

Sources said a teller at the bank declined to cash in the coins and then alerted police, who chased the two first by vehicle south to the Gateway Truck Plaza on Illinois Route 203.

There, the suspects abandoned their vehicle. The two were apprehended after a brief foot chase.

Bank and police authorities spent much of Friday sorting through the change and putting their investigation together. Most information on the case is expected to be released on Monday.

Bridge manager
now being sought

VENICE — Sept. 30 is Tom Fields' last day on the job as McKinley Bridge manager, and the city is conducting a search for somebody to take his place.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said desirable qualifications include a bachelor's degree and experience in management. He said he would also prefer to find somebody from Venice, if possible.

The job pays about $25,000 a year right now, Echols said, but he conceded that a higher salary might be required to attract qualified applicants.

A salary increase would have to be cleared by the consulting engineering firm that oversees the financial management of the bridge for the people who own the bonds that enabled the city to purchase the bridge.

State Police investigating possible abuse of public funds in Centreville

By David Migoya
Staff writer

CENTREVILLE — Illinois State Police last week confirmed reports they have launched a full-scale investigation into allegations that Centreville Township employees tried to persuade indigent residents into voting for candidates backed by Francis Touchette.

Touchette is Centreville Township supervisor as well as St. Clair County Board chairman.

"We have begun an investigation into allegations of possible improprieties of public aid funds in Centreville Township," said Bob Fletcher, a spokesman for the Illinois State Police Division of Internal Investigations in Springfield.

"The investigation, however, does not center directly on Mr. Touchette," Fletcher said Thursday.

Touchette, who could not be reached for comment, has denied the accusations and has said he welcomes any investigation.

The investigation was begun about the same time Illinois House of Representatives Minority Leader Lee Daniels asked Attorney General Neil Hartigan to determine whether Touchette can legally serve in both elected positions.

Hartigan's opinion might not be delivered for several months, a spokesman for the attorney general said last week.

Three weeks ago, several former township workers said publicly they were directed to urge public-aid recipients to vote for Touchette-backed candidates.

Some residents were led to believe public-aid checks would be withheld if they did not vote for those candidates, the workers said.

Some caseworkers also were expected to drive general assistance recipients to the polls, it was alleged.

Other allegations included the use of township employees to mail political items from the township office during normal business hours.

Two former workers, however, say they didn't know of any political maneuvering in the township office nor were they asked to sway a resident's vote.

Tips for auto breakdowns

By the Illinois Secretary of State's Office:

A car breakdown at night when driving alone can cause a dangerous situation. If your car breaks down, follow these steps to prevent an accident and protect yourself:

• First, try to coast off the road onto the shoulder. Turn on your emergency flashers and come to a stop.

• Keep the windows up and doors locked until the police arrive.

• If there is a CB radio in the car, call channel 9 or 19; these channels are monitored by the police. When you get a response, give your location and describe your vehicle.

• If another motorist arrives before the police, talk through a barely-open window and ask that he or she call the police or a service station for you.

Remember, do not leave the car until a uniformed police officer or an authorized service truck arrives.

• The same safety advice applies if you have a flat tire. Do not change it by yourself at night.

Although driving on a flat will probably damage the tire beyond repair, you may have no other choice if you feel the situation is threatening.

If you must drive on a damaged tire, reduce the hazard to other motorists by using your emergency flashers and keeping as far as possible to the right of the road.

• Finally, you will feel safer driving alone at night if your vehicle is running smoothly and your tires are in good condition.

Families reunite over backyard barbecues

Maxine Duniphan covers the Mitchell area for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-2714.

Troy and Pauline Glendening of Chouteau Place were hosts for a family reunion at their home on Sept. 2.

Guests enjoyed a backyard barbecue. Approximately 60 relatives were present, including Troy's eight siblings: Quinton Glendening and family of Salem, Ky.; Tom and Star Glendening and family from Tulsa, Okla.

Guests included: Clayton (Glendening) Payne, Geraldine and Jack and Peggy (Glendening) Lane, all of Pontiac, Mich.; Bill and Patty (Glendening) Spicer and family; and Johnnie (Glendening) Houston, all of Paducah, Ky.; and Buddy and Barbara (Glendening) Boyd of St. Louis.

Yvonne Morris of Marshall Avenue attended the Crises family reunion over the Labor Day weekend.

The get-together was hosted by Morris' cousin, Clayton Crises; and his wife, Maude, at their home in Kingfield Heights, Ind.

The 51 guests came from Illinois, Indiana and Missouri and enjoyed a full day of picnicking, reminiscing and picture taking.

Willard and Bernice Myers of Margaret Avenue, their son, Gordon, and his wife, Diane, traveled to Ramsey recently to attend a reunion of Mrs. Myers' family—the Bayless family. The event was held at Ramsey Lake State Park.

Other family members attending were: Harold and Fay (Bayless) Lindsey and Max and Lorraine (Bayless) Decker, all of East Peoria; Brian and Cheryl Bayless and children, Jason and Melissa and Ann (Bayless) Spichter, all of Sandoval, Ill.; and Debra (Lindsey) Fettes and children, Nathan and Gabriel, all of Montrose, Ill.

Everyone was enjoying a day of picnicking, fishing and visiting in the park until a rainstorm forced the participants to leave and regroup at the Fetter home in Montrose for the remainder of the day.

Mary Reed of Courtenay Boulevard and her friend, Helen Floyd of Granite City, were members of an eight-day Yellowstone Park and Black Hills tour, sponsored by Union Tours, at the end of August.

The group visited the famous Buffalo Bill Ranch, the Grand Teton National Park and Jackson Hole, Wyo.

The local travelers also toured Yellowstone National Park and then stopped at Jackson's Lodge for a view of Mount Moran and Jackson Lake. They also had a spectacular view of Old Faithful and the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone River.

The women enjoyed a journey through the Sylvan Pass to the old frontier town of Cody, Wyo., where they visited the Buffalo Bill Historical Center and the Whitney Gallery of Western Art. They also traveled to Granite Pass through the Big Horn Mountains.

Maxine Duniphan

Another memorable part of the tour was the visit to Mount Rushmore, where travelers could see the faces of four American presidents carved in solid granite at the top of the mountain.

The group also crossed the arid and eerie "badlands" region en route to the magnificent Corn Palace at Mitchell before continuing to Council Bluffs, Iowa, for the night and starting the final phase of their return trip home the next day.

Olive Joyner has returned home from a week's vacation in central Missouri.

Dixon, Mo. Joyner visited her cousin, Chloë Robinson, and the two made apple butter.

The next day the two cousins, accompanied by Jessie Cross, traveled to Vienna, Mo., where they visited another cousin, Winifred Terry.

Terry joined the visitors for a motor trip to Rolla, where they called at the residence of another cousin, Mary Ray, 12. Joyner then treated the women to dinner at the Siroin Stockade Steak House in Rolla.

The group spent a day shopping in Jefferson City and Joyner, Robinson and Cross also attended the 22nd annual "Blue Grass Pickin' Time" festival at Jones-Dixon Music Park, near Dixon. Joyner also attended Sunday services at the Burnett Christian Church in Dixon.

Joyner, a member of the Madison County Historical Society, concluded her vacation in Vienna, where she stayed overnight at the Terry residence and toured the Jail House Museum and an historical house.

The congregation at Faith Chapel Church met at the church, 604 Ashland Ave., on Sunday evening and then moved their usual services to Marine, where they held services on the front lawn at the home of church members, Henry and Tommie McNeely. Mr. McNeely was unable to attend regular church services due to illness.

Also present besides the Faith Chapel congregation were: the Rev. Jim McNeely and wife, Carol, of St. Peters, Mo., and Gary McNeely of Marine, both sons of Mr. McNeely; Betty McGraw of New Bern, Tenn., sister of McNeely; and his niece, Theresa Stewart and her husband, Paron, and children, Christopher and Lauren, of Mission, Tenn.

The Chouteau Township Senior Citizens will welcome two new members, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Cade, at their Sept. 27 meeting.

The group also will hold its third annual Fall Harvest Sale, using a western theme. Hobo stew and biscuits will be served from 5 to 7:30 p.m., and live music and an auction are planned.

PWP weekend at Lost Valley

Lost Valley Lake Resort was the site for a weekend of fun for Parents Without Partners Chapter 470 of Granite City. The resort area is near Owensville, Mo.

Horseback riding, canoeing, paddleboat riding, swimming, games and dancing were enjoyed by the local group.

The Granite City chapter members were joined at the resort by members of PWP Chapter 281 from Jefferson City, Mo.

Local members participating in the weekend trip to Lost Valley Lake were: Dolores Cunningham, Gary Bair, Ray Campbell, Dale McCarthy, Gene Howard,

Among the upcoming events planned by PWP Chapter 470 are a trip to Jefferson City, chapter dances, a picnic/barbecue at Horseshoe Lake State Park, a visit to the St. Louis Art Museum, bowling and other educational and recreational activities.

During the summer months, members also visited the Quivre River State Park, Six Flags Over Mid-America and PWP conferences.

Call 931-2427 or 797-2660 for information.

Dale McCarthy serves as Chapter 470 president.

Luncheon to honor volunteers

Belleville Area College's Retired Senior Volunteer Program will host a recognition luncheon for volunteers from St. Clair and Madison counties at Fischer's Restaurant in Belleville on Friday, Sept. 22.

Community leader Ray Sonnenberg will serve as chairman and keynote speaker for the RSVP luncheon. He also will present awards to volunteers who contributed to the success of the program by providing more than 200,000 volunteer hours of service to more than 135 non-profit agencies and others.

"Since the federally funded Senior Volunteer Program does not provide funds for the luncheon, we are asking business leaders of St. Clair and Madison counties and recipients of the services to help defray the cost. The luncheon cost is $7.75 per person."

Sixth birthday marked in style

"The Simpsons" was the party theme as Jonathan Joseph Kozak celebrated his sixth birthday on Aug. 27 with his parents, Jim and Charlotte Kozak, and sister, Jamie Rose, of Madison. Cartoon characters Bart Simpson and little sister, Maggie, were used to decorate the front of the Kozak home.

The birthday observance began earlier for the honoree with a trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn., and visits to Dollywood, Magic Funpark, a water park, a haunted castle and miniature golf courses, including one course which required a cable car ride to the top of the mountain to play.

A computer portrait also was made of Jonathan and his sister, Jamie, as a memento. The local family also paid a visit to Simpson family at the Summerfest show on the lakefront.

After a tour of the city, the trip was further highlighted by watching a spectacular fireworks display along the lakefront. On Aug. 26, the birthday celebration continued when Jonathan, Rose, and his aunt, Sophie O'Neill, his mother and sister also were present.

Translating the trouble with KMOX's overseas shows

KMOX Radio's initial talk show involving the man in the street in St. Louis and Tokyo underlined the flexibility of radio. Unfortunately, it also magnified the difficulty of molding two languages and translating an interesting format.

The program, aired Sept. 4, experienced some heavy going with translations early in the program. There was confusion over what was being said; enough, in fact, to slow the program's pace dramatically. It is a factor that has plagued similar broadcasts KMOX-AM (1120) does with Moscow, but they are improving.

Eventually, under host Bob Hardy's guidance, the Japan program explored some dramatic differences in attitude toward family in the American and Japanese cultures.

One Japanese caller wanted to know why Americans go home after work, explaining that, in Japan, men are far more likely than their American counterparts to stay out late enjoying themselves. Hardy cited a survey that indicates family is the most important factor in the lives of most Americans, a finding that seemed to surprise the Japanese.

The program also illustrated that not all Americans live on the same schedule. Although the program began at 11 p.m. and ran past midnight, when the talk turned to baseball, Hardy was able to call on the services of sportscaster Bob Costas, who happened to be at the station.

Costas was there to talk with Robert Hyland, KMOX general manager and CBS Radio senior vice president. At 12:30 a.m.?

Yes. Hyland is noted for his unusual work hours, which include arriving at the station at all hours of the night to begin his work day.

Costas, easily one of the most articulate and well-prepared people on the air anywhere, was able to leap into the fray and provide some baseball expertise to the program.

Generally, the Tokyo program was considered a success by KMOX, and there will be others to follow, although probably at a time more accessible to the St. Louis radio audience.

Emmys don't mean much. If the recently announced local Emmy Awards did not — as usual — prove anything else, they did demonstrate that no television station in the St. Louis market has a monopoly on quality news presentation. KSDK-TV (Channel 5) and KMOV-TV (Channel 4) tied for the award for "Best News," but KTVY of Springfield, Mo., a fine station in a smaller market, won four awards that any of the St. Louis stations would love to have. KTVY, well-known in the industry for its gigantic ratings and quality work, won Emmys for spot news; feature news; general news and documentary.

Channel 4 won for an investigative report and in four other categories, including Top News for best sportscaster. Channel 5 won for a sports special and another special — J.C. Coren's bizarre look at spring training. Channel 5's Deanne Lane took best anchor. KTVI-TV (Channel 2), the other "big" station in town, won two awards including best weatherman — Dave Murray.

Although everyone I know in the business loves the recognition that comes with winning an Emmy, almost all of those people will tell you the awards do not mean very much. Best newscast is judged on one day chosen almost at random, and although many of the individual awards are for really excellent work, they single out a particular program or program segment rather than identifying continuing quality.

Having said all that, it's a good bet there was gloom in Channel 2's camp where news director Bill Berra is trying to get things on the right track. Also, there likely is some indignation in local newsrooms that some of the folks in Springfield may know how to do the news at least as well as the folks in the big city.

It should be noted that news departments in Kansas City, Mo., were all but shut out, as were stations in Des Moines, Iowa; Springfield, Ill.; and Little Rock, Ark. They competed in the newly expanded regional competition.

Negotiations progressing to reopen American Theater

By Harry Hamm
Staff writer

Negotiations between Steve Schankman of Contemporary Productions and local businessman and investor Charlie Cella, who owns the American Theater, hope to bring the theater at 418 N. Ninth St. back to life by October, a source close to the negotiations said last week.

Schankman wants to create "a new image" for the American by using it as a year-round stage for a variety of entertainment ranging from musicals to touring dramatic and musical shows to an occasional benefit or perhaps sit-down affair, the source said.

Schankman could not be reached for comment. Paul Blake, executive producer at The Mundy, also has expressed a "keen interest" in producing theatrical events during the winter that would be staged at the American and then taken on tour, the source said.

Cella last year removed most of the theater's 1,500 seats, replacing them with tables and chairs while converting the building into the site of a coming-out party for his daughter. Guests attending the affair were entertained by Broadway performer Tommy Tune, who was brought in to perform a special number for the party.

The theater seats will be re-installed by October, the source said.

Discount movie tickets available. The next time you are on your way to see a movie, you might want to stop by the customer service desk at your local Schnuck's or Dierbergs supermarket and pick up a discount ticket that will save you up to $2 on most first-run films.

The discount tickets, which are good at American Multi Cinema and Wehrenberg theaters, cost $3.50 and, with the exception of a few films, are good for any performance. A call to your local theater will tell you whether or not the discount ticket can be used for a film showing there.

Marching Warriors start season

The Granite City High School Marching Warrior Band has announced its 1990-91 calendar, which includes concerts, contests and field performances.

The band performs the National Anthem and the school song at the start of all home football games.

During half-time at games, the band and auxiliaries present a field show. Field show music this year features arrangements of "New York Fantasy," "James Bond Medley," "New York, New York," and "Mac the Knife."

About 140 students perform with the band and auxiliary units.

Band members will also compete in several musical events this year.

The schedule started with the Apple Festival in Murphysboro on Sept. 15 and will continue at O'Fallon/West Frankfort on Saturday, Sept. 22; Eastern Illinois University at Charleston on Saturday, Oct. 6; and a contest at Busch Stadium on Saturday, Oct. 27.

During October, band members will be selling tickets to the band's concert series, scheduled on Dec. 13, March 21 and May 16, plus a jazz concert on April 8.

Season tickets cost $5 each and admit two persons. Contributing and sustaining memberships will also be sold for $15 and $25. These memberships provide the donor with a certificate suitable for display and a season ticket.

Contributions to the band are used for band expenses, including uniform and instrument maintenance.

In addition to performing at school functions, the band marches in local parades for the enjoyment of all residents. The student musicians also perform at all home basketball games.

Band members each spend 90 minutes a day learning and practicing music and marching routines.

They also rehearse two evenings each week in the fall months, and spend two weeks at "Band Camp" during August, working from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on routines and field shows.

The Marching Warrior Band is under the direction of Dennis Meyer and Norbert Tate.

Library to mark first anniversary

A tabulation of the volumes in the less than a year old Village of Pontoon Beach Library shows a collection of more than 17,800 books.

All books in the library have been donated by business people, individuals and other libraries. Recent large donations came from the Hartford Library and from businessmen Richard Buegger and Keith Jensen.

The library is open four days each week. It is open to anyone who desires to use the facility, and there is no charge for a library card.

A "Friends of the Library" group of sponsors is being formed. This far, All Glass Service and Friendly Pets and Supplies have joined in the category of "friends."

Sponsors of the Pontoon Beach Library are Madison County Excavating and Sam Shafer Excavating, Werner Chapel for Funerals is a benefactor.

Patricia Bresser of Bresser Bicycle Shop has been a monthly donor to the library since October 1989. The members of the library are Robert W. Wilson, president, Alice Lucas, secretary, and Judy Merritt, treasurer.

The library operates with a volunteer staff of 10 persons headed by Lynn Cuvar and an eight-member fund-raising committee.

A first-year celebration of the library will be held on the library parking lot at Oakmont Center on Sept. 29.

Arson

of explaining why he didn't take the fire truck and call out volunteer firefighters at that time.

"I had been warned; I just didn't believe it," Salmond said. The Madison Fire Department, which assisted in extinguishing the blaze, was called at 12:45 a.m., according to the dispatching log at the Madison Police Station.

The house was unoccupied, and its gas and electricity had been shut off — the latter on Aug. 27, according to Illinois Power Co. A night light on the street in front of the house had been shut off last Monday.

A source at IP said it was not unusual for a night light to be shut off two weeks after power had been shut off to a house, because two different departments of the utility company are involved.

A Madison County sheriff's deputy made out a report at the scene, Salmond said, but that could not be confirmed Friday.

An officer with the Illinois State Police arson squad said his department had not been called in as of Friday afternoon.

Although the house was unoccupied, Salmond's son, Ed Lee Jr., had been spending some time in it during daylight hours, the father said.

Salmond discounted rumors he had been hearing about his involvement with the fire and attributed it to a slander campaign being waged by people upset with his own campaign to rid Eagle Park of drugs and other illegal activities. Several months ago, Salmond publicly stated that he would drive drug use and sales out of Eagle Park by the end of 1990.

Eagle Park, a tiny unincorporated community off Illinois Route 203 just south of Madison, had had its share of drug-related crime in recent years because of its proximity to St. Louis and its out-of-the-way atmosphere.

Salmond said that, in retrospect, whoever set the fire may have actually done him a favor. The fire was largely confined to the second story, and Salmond said he was planning on removing the second floor of the house anyway.

Many tickets being dismissed, cities losing potential income

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County municipalities could be out thousands of dollars in court fines as a result of a policy implemented over the last three weeks in the office of Circuit Court Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell.

And while court officials acknowledge that thousands of traffic and misdemeanor tickets are up for review — including dog leash violations — Ken Larson, chief deputy of the office, said he could "not put a number on" how many tickets have already been dismissed.

Collinsville and Granite City have so far not felt the bite of the policy, since tickets for those municipalities do not go to the courthouse for processing but rather are processed locally.

Although no tickets from those cities have yet been dismissed, "they will be reviewed in the future," Larson said.

The impact of the "purging" of tickets has been felt in Edwardsville and Glen Carbon, where municipal officials are irritated that the policy was implemented without any notification to them by either judges or employees of the circuit clerk's office.

Larson said Friday that tickets dating to the early months of this year and earlier are being reviewed for dismissal in an effort to clear out a massive backlog of cases.

Also, he said the tickets are being looked over by several associate judges for dismissal to save effort in placing them on a new computer system, which is due to go into service in January.

But that explanation doesn't satisfy Edwardsville Police Chief Bennett Dickmann, City Attorney Susan Jensen and Glen Carbon Police Chief Robert Rizzi.

"I don't agree with what they're doing, but I can understand it," Rizzi said.

He added that, so far, 60 tickets issued in the village from late 1989 and early 1990 have been scrubbed from the legal system.

Both Rizzi and Dickmann said such a policy is hard both on the municipal coffers and the morale of officers' spending time processing tickets only to see them removed from the system.

Dickmann said a preliminary survey being conducted in his office shows that 172 tickets have been dismissed and that "most were not signed by a judge but were merely marked 'dismissed'."

Jensen said she and Dickmann plan to review dismissed tickets with an eye toward entering motions to have the charges reinstated.

"We've got 30 days in which we can do that," Jensen said.

Chief Circuit Judge Charles V. Roman Jr. said he was aware "they were going to be looking at some old tickets, but these tickets they're talking about (from) late last year and this year aren't old."

"Ordinarily, tickets going back five or six years are considered old. I haven't gotten to the bottom of this," he said.

Two area men charged for sexual abuse of children

EDWARDSVILLE — Two Quad City area men were charged Thursday in unrelated cases with sexually abusing two girls in July.

The class 2 felony cases on sexual abuse involving children were filed in Madison County Circuit Court.

Kenneth A. Brown, 38, of the 500 block of Fillmore Avenue in Venice was charged with one count of aggravated criminal sexual abuse for allegedly fondling a girl under the age of 13 during July. It is contended the child was 11 years old.

Also charged with aggravated criminal sexual abuse was Raymond Junior Chamness, 21, of the 2700 block of Myrtle Avenue in Granite City for allegedly having sexual intercourse with a girl over the age of 13 but under the age of 17, also during July.

Circuit Judge Edward C. Ferguson, chief criminal-court judge, set bond for each man at $50,000.

Brown had been free, pending formal charges, and as of Thursday night was considered to be at large. Then, on Friday morning he was arrested in Salem, Mo., and was held there pending extradition arrangements.

Chamness was being held Friday in the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville in lieu of bond.

Former county board member Burns dies in traffic accident

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

GODFREY — Attorney Charles R. Burns, 37, a former Madison County Board member, died in an early morning accident Tuesday on Illinois 3 near Godfrey.

Burns was pronounced dead at 1:45 a.m. of massive head and chest injuries suffered in a head-on collision between his car and the auto of a Wood River woman.

The woman, Susan Kohler, 25, was charged with reckless homicide and driving under the influence of alcohol. She was seriously hurt and was hospitalized in Alton.

Burns, a rural Edwardsville resident, practiced law in Alton. Madison County Chief Deputy Coroner Ralph Baahmann Jr. pronounced Burns dead at the scene. It took members of the Godfrey Volunteer Fire Department about 40 minutes to extricate his body from his auto.

A passenger in his car, Natalie Kim Grove, 30, of Alton, remained in critical condition in the intensive care unit at St. Louis University Hospital on Wednesday, a hospital spokesman said. She was taken there by helicopter.

Authorities said the accident happened at about 1:15 a.m. at the intersection of Illinois 3 and Canterbury Lane when an eastbound 1971 Ford driven by Kohler crossed the center line and struck Burns' 1987 Datsun head-on.

A third car then rammed Kohler's auto from behind, according to Baahmann. The driver, Jeffrey Tanner of Alton, suffered minor injuries.

Kohler, who was reported in satisfactory condition at St. Anthony's Hospital in Alton, was charged Tuesday afternoon with three counts of reckless homicide and two counts of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Illinois State Trooper James Bivens said Wednesday that authorities had not yet obtained results of tests to determine the alcohol content in Kohler's blood.

However, Madison County State's Attorney William Haine said Kohler admitted at the scene that she had been drinking at the Chatterbox Lounge on Illinois 3 and that it had been "quarter beer night." Burns had been in "several scrapes with the law, including an arrest in March 1987 in McDonough County, Mich., on charges of possession of cocaine and carrying a concealed weapon.

Through plea bargaining, he pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine and operating a vehicle while impaired.

He was given three years' probation and was fined $305. In December 1988, the Illinois Supreme Court placed Burns' name on the probation list for three years because of the cocaine conviction.

He represented District 11 on the Madison County Board from 1982 until 1986, when he lost the Democratic nomination to Donald Myers. Myers lost in the general election to Republican Frederick Heepke.

Haine, who had served as a fellow Democratic board member with Burns, on Wednesday called the death "a sad thing. It's always sad to see a man of his age go like this."

He had a wide-ranging law practice and was devoted to his clients.

2 late CBC goals beat Warriors

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

CLAYTON, Mo. — The Warrior soccer team knew all about Bill Baumhoff and Chris Santel. They had no such warning about Pat Riordan.

Riordan, normally a defensive-minded midfielder for the CBC Cadets, scored the tying goal with 14 minutes left and assisted on Josh Richter's goal with 10 minutes left to give the home team a 2-1 win over the Warriors on Thursday. Jay Robertson's first goal of the season early in the second half didn't stand up as the Warriors (4-2) saw a four-game winning streak end.

"It was unusual that Pat would get as involved in the offense as he did," said CBC coach Terry Michler. "He's our defensive midfielder, but that first play developed really quickly and he saw a chance to push up."

Baumhoff and Santel are both members of the Under 18 national team, but it was Riordan, Richter and Kevin Brown who were just as dangerous most of the game.

Jim McKeehan and Brian Buske did good jobs marking up on Baumhoff and Santel, said Warrior coach Gene Baker, a 1981 CBC graduate. "But they have some other great players. Although they don't have a lot of size, there was a lot of physical pressure on our defense and we just didn't have it at the end."

The tying goal was similar to CBC's first goal, scored by Baumhoff — in a 3-0 win at The Gauntlet last year. This time Santel started the play in the field while Brown served as the pivot man at the top of the penalty area. Brown redirected Santel's pass through the Warrior defense to an onrushing Riordan, who flipped a shot past Warrior keeper Tim Henson at 66:10. Then Richter beat everyone to a long diagonal pass from Riordan down the right wing at 70:33 and slid it past the onrushing Henson for the winner. "I thought Tim should have

Powerful Flyerettes keep GC spikers winless

By Brian Henry
Columnist

GRANITE CITY — The East St. Louis Flyerettes dominated from beginning to end in a convincing 15-0, 15-4 win over the Warrior volleyball team (0-4) on Thursday.

Pamela Weston began a string of 27 consecutive East Side points by scoring nine in a row to begin the first game. Adrienne Davis followed with six in a row for the first game shut-out.

"Pam's serving was her best of the year," said Flyerette coach Clarence Goldtree. "Usually she'll only get one or two in at a time, but she really came through tonight. We needed her and the others to pick up the slack because we had three players suspended earlier today."

Once the Flyerettes (5-1) got going, there was no stopping them as they piled up a 12-0 lead in the second game. Leading the charge this time was Javonda Bush, who staked the visitors to a 7-0 lead with a serving exhibition of her own.

The good news for the Warriors was the play of the junior varsity squad, whom coach Natalie Buster put in with the score 10-0 in the second game. Terri Buster put the Warriors on the board for the first time with two points, one an ace.

"Terri's serving was about it for us," said Natalie Buster. "That was not a team out there. I don't know what it was."

The Flyerettes, who have lost only to Belleville West (ranked eighth in the state), seem ready, willing and able to compete with just about anybody.

"We're playing pretty good right now," said Goldtree. "After the loss to West, we had to show ourselves that we can play."

The Warriors, meanwhile, will try to break into the win column in Wood River on Monday.

"I'm optimistic about her chances against Wood River," said Buster. "A win right now would mean a lot."

NOTES: The Warrior JV turned in its second strong performance in a row, although it fell in three games to the Flyerette JV (10-15, 15-9, 8-15). After Wood River, Granite City hosts Belleville West on Tuesday and travels to Alton on Thursday.

Gridders blank West to raise mark to 3-0

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — All of a sudden, people are talking about the Warriors as one of the area's most improved football teams.

But first-year coach Tom Wyrostek isn't about to let his team get cocky.

"We're not even talking about 3-0," said Wyrostek, which is the Warriors' record after Friday's 17-0 Southwestern Conference win at Belleville West. "We're not looking at anything but respectability and things like hitting, tackling and blocking. There are a lot of things we're learning."

The Warriors — 3-6 last season — matched that win total with a solid effort against the Maroons, whom they hadn't scored a point against since 1986.

"These kids play harder than any squad I've had," Wyrostek said. "They're fun to be around. We want people to know that Granite City does play football. A shutout isn't just a pretty good effort. There's nothing better you can do."

Friday's loss was the third in a row for West under new coach Dick Hood, who has hired last spring to replace Bruce Arnold. But Hood was considerably more upbeat than he was after a 29-6 loss to Cahokia on Sept. 7.

"Sometimes when you put in new things, you look like heck for a while," said Hood, who coached the past 13 seasons at Rantoul High School. "Right now we're going through that stage. I feel bad and the kids feel bad. But after today, there's a ray of hope."

The Maroons were burned by a superb two-way performance from Warrior senior Bobby Thomas. As quarterback, Thomas had 15 carries for 67 yards and completed three of four passes for 50 yards. As a defensive back, he had a first-quarter interception which led to the Warriors' first touchdown, a five-yard run by Mike Vaughn midway through the first quarter. It was Vaughn's fourth touchdown in three games.

West's Shawn Donovan fumbled the ensuing kickoff and Thomas recovered on the Maroon 31. Six plays later, Mike Nordstrom's 26-yard field goal gave Granite City a 10-0 lead.

"Thomas had a great game and deserves all the attention he can get," Wyrostek said. "But it was a team effort — it takes other people to win."

A one-yard touchdown run by Thomas capped the Warriors' 18-play, 86-yard scoring drive in the closing seconds of the second quarter, giving Granite City a 17-0 halftime lead. Vaughn, who gained 54 yards on 11 carries in the first half, was injured on the drive.

"He took a good, clean hit," Wyrostek said. "The doctor gave him the OK to play in the second half, but we held him out as a precaution."

The Maroons held the Warriors scoreless in the second half, but were unable to score any points themselves. Maroon junior quarterback Joel Sigman finished 11 for 27 for 122 yards after completing just one of nine passes (with two interceptions) in the first half.

The Maroons were penalized nine times for 90 yards.

"Take the penalties out and we did some good things on the field," Hood said. "We were a lot more aggressive tonight. In our first two ballgames, we were so unaggressive it was disheartening."

Things don't get any easier for West, which will play East St. Louis and Alhouth in the next two weeks.

"We've got to find a way to suck it up and play in those next two games, or we could get blown off the face of the Earth," Hood said. "But I think we'll respond positively."

Granite City plays next Friday in Collinsville (1-2, 0-1 in SWC play) before hosting East St. Louis on Sept. 28.

"He was the second one," said Baker. "He was just a little late coming out and he got burned. He's young and he's sometimes not vocal enough back there. But it will come."

Baker thought the Warriors held a slight advantage in a scoreless first half. They were able to hold off several quick-strike attempts by the Cadets who passed the ball long and high down the middle of the field often. Granite City's best chance came two minutes before half-time when Pat Rich headed Ryan Reeves' corner kick. CBC goalie Chad Warren had no chance, but defender Tim Barry was there to head the ball out of danger.

Robertson, the Warriors' leading returning goal scorer, finally denied the scoresheet at 43:57. Skip Birdsong started the play on the right wing with a sharp pass to Larry Wright, who found Robertson in the penalty area. Robertson faked around one man and had Warren at his mercy, beating him low to the left side. "I hope that gets Jay going," said Baker. "He's a great kid."

He feels he's been doing the same things as last year, but he might have to adjust to not having John (Van Buskirk) getting the ball to him."

The Cadets stepped up the pressure and Henson made a couple of nice saves on Santel and Jay Mollen before CBC broke through. The Cadets outshot the Warriors 12-6.

"I always feel like we have a chance," said Michler. "Both teams were dangerous all night. We got some good ball movement and the long balls paid off. Granite City always plays hard and I thought we matched it."

Baumhoff and Santel are always going to be marked heavily, so we have to get production out of the others. Richter was open and effective all night."

NOTES: Granite City won the JV game 9-0 to improve to 3-1. The Warrior JV also won 3-0 at Belleville East on Tuesday. Following Saturday's home game with Quincy, the Warriors travel to Belleville West on Tuesday. JV action begins at 5:30 p.m.

With moldings, room looks trim

By Al Schneider
Of Central Hardware

Make a drab room sparkle with moldings.

Installation is simple and requires only a few basic tools: a quality miter box and fine-tooth saw, a hammer, finishing nails, a nail set, a putty stick to match the color of pre-finished molding that you have selected, a tape measure and a coping saw.

Estimating the amount you will need is simple, too. Measure the distances you plan to cover with the molding. I round each length I measure into whole feet, increasing the figure. This gives me a little extra room.

A few time-tested tips will help make your finished molding installation look professional. When making a miter, cutting the angle across each piece of molding, accuracy yields the best results. Measure once, twice or 20 times until you are sure of yourself and then cut.

There are two ways to miter properly. First, while holding the molding against the miter box, saw across the thickness. The second method allows you to hold the molding flat on the bottom of the miter box and saw across the face. When using either method, make clear, thin marks on the wood where you want to cut before you begin.

Taking the few seconds to accurately cut and measure will be reflected in the looks of the finished product, which will adorn your walls for years. For outside corners, where two walls meet, I suggest using corner or cap moldings because the shapes make your job easier. Moldings that are not flat should be placed in the miter box in the same position in which you plan to install them.

Using coping moldings for inside corners, butt and nail the square end of one molding piece into the corner. I then saw the second piece at a 45-degree angle to reveal the profile of the molding. I fasten that piece over my table or workbench edge and carefully saw along the profile shape, keeping my coping saw in a vertical position. The final cut should be on the outside edge of the profile shape to fit perfectly with the matching flat piece that it joins. Any little discrepancies caused by sawing can be neatly sanded. When selecting your molding, keep this technique in mind. It is more difficult to cut complex molding shapes.

When trimming doors and windows, professionals begin with the top casing. Position the casing about 1/8 inch back from the face of the jamb, adding width for the two side casings on each end. The top casing will be mitered at opposite 45-degree angles and nailed into position. For the side piece, I measure from the floor to the outside corner of the top casing. The floor ends should be square cut and the top should have matching 45-degree angles to complement and join the top with the sides.

Madison County parking garage likely to be hed up indefinitely

By Roger Kramer
staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County officials may not pursue plans to build a parking garage in downtown Edwarsville.

"I just don't think it will be in the cards," County Director of Administration James Monday said.

"At the moment, we don't have a dime, and we won't have a dime for the next year, either," Monday said.

A 41-car parking garage and a 222-car surface lot would cost about $1.1 million, according to a newly completed parking study for the county's administration building which is now under construction. Work began on the building, immediately north of the Madison County Courthouse, after the contract was awarded in late June.

County officials also don't have the money to create several additional parking lots near the administration building. The proposed lots would accommodate 683 automobiles but there is no money available to construct them, Monday said.

Building the surface lots would cost about $2 million, and demolition and land purchases could boost the cost of that proposal to about $3 million, Monday estimated.

Officials asked Leo A. Daly, the St. Louis architectural firm that designed the administration building, to develop proposals to provide at least 650 parking spaces for the building and the courthouse.

Edwardsville's zoning ordinance requires the county to provide from 650 to 700 parking spaces. The study showed the county needs 642 spots to handle the vehicles of employees, officials, jurors and visitors.

If county officials chose to build a triple-deck parking garage, it would have to be financed through revenue bonds that would be repaid through parking fees.

"I hazard to guess we would need about 100 percent capacity to pay for it," Monday said. "I don't know how much of the time we would be needing 650 spots."

About 250 spots are now available in county and city parking lots along North Second Street. The proposal to build only surface parking lots would incorporate those into a 402-car lot.

The 402-car surface lot could be built for about $1 million, according to the study.

"That's something we may be able to do," Monday said.

To reach 683 spots, the county would have to expand parking lots along Hillsboro Avenue and buy two pieces of property.

The idea of using currently private property for parking lots has upset Alderman Wayne Schrage, who is leading a drive to get the county out of the business of owning property.

"Instead of having development on those two lots, you'd have parking lots. That's why I think it's best to put in a garage," Schrage said.

Governor OKs civic center

By Marvin Cortner
Staff writer

COLUMBIA — Gov. James Thompson has signed legislation establishing a Civic Center Authority here and in the communities of Forest Park and Cave in Rock.

The law allows the local formation of a Civic Center Authority that can apply for state grants to be used to build a new community center. The authority would be administered by a board of trustees appointed by the City Council.

Earlier in the summer, Thompson said civic center authorities are valuable economic development tools for communities. He also said civic centers serve to enrich and improve the quality of life.

The state Civic Authority Program is administered by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

The DCCA provides up to 75 percent of the money for building local community centers. Communities must pay for a minimum of 25 percent of the cost.

The state money is provided through the sale of revenue bonds. The principal and interest on the bonds are paid from taxes on horse racing and a portion of the new tax on computer software.

Passage of the legislation is only the first step on the road to securing state money.

According to the DCCA, applications for grants require detailed economic feasibility reports, financial plans, master building design plans, economic impact studies and community need surveys, as well as documentation that the local civic center authority can provide the minimum 25 percent of the cost.

Alderman Bill Wolf, chairman of the council's Property Committee, said passage of the legislation means the city is now in place to apply for grant money.

"Thanks to some hard work by the mayor, the city attorney and the auditor, we've got the framework in place to make some positive moves toward getting a community center," Wolf said.

"I'm excited about the fact we got 75 percent of the money from our state elected officials," Wolf also praised organizations such as the American Legion, the Senior Citizens, the Jaycees, the Turners and churches for their letters to the governor supporting the legislation. About 30 individual letters and 15 letters from groups were sent to Thompson.

Wolf said the first group that would benefit from a new civic center would be senior citizens, using the Western Egyptian Nutrition Site, which is being temporarily housed in the Masonic Temple on Main Street.

The service facility had been displaced from Columbia's Parkview School.

Wolf said it was about a year ago that city officials first considered building a new community center. The cost was estimated at between $500,000 and $600,000. Since then, the city has purchased a lot by the old community center along Metcalf Street, intended as the site for a new building.

The council's property and finance committees will meet Sept. 24 to review the building plans in light of the passage of the Civic Center Authority law.
